

9 honeymoon destinations you'll start seeing a lot more

For many couples, their honeymoon is the single most significant vacation they'll ever take together. So of course awe-inspiring destinations like the Maldives, Fiji and Bora Bora will always rank high on the list of honeymoon hot spots, as will glamorous cities such as Paris, Kyoto and Venice. And while places like Bolivia and Switzerland may not be the first destinations that come to mind, you may want to reconsider after reading this list of couples-worthy locales that are currently rising in popularity. Here are 9 trending honeymoon locales that should be on your radar if saying "I do" in 2020.

José Ignacio, Uruguay

"Our trip designers are finding that honeymooners are really interested in exotic beach destinations," (i.e. Sumba Island in Indonesia, Six Senses Yao Noi in Thailand and José Ignacio, Uruguay) says Melissa Biggs Bradley, founder and CEO of luxury travel company Indagare. "They want the warm weather, but are steering away from the comforts of the Caribbean and exploring beach destinations around the world." Quaint fishing town turned ritzy resort village José Ignacio offers all the comforts twosomes could want on a 'moon: 5-star resorts with posh suites, over-the-top spas, fine dining and casual, albeit trendy, beach clubs like La Susana and Anastasio Playa Hotel & Beach Club. When it comes to top hotels, we're big fans of Vik Retreats Playa Vik, Bahia Vik, and Estancia Vik. Pro tip: Uruguay's summer is the opposite of ours, so you'll want to holiday during the warmer months of December to March, and if you're feeling adventurous and up for seeing more of this enigmatic, wonderful country, it's worth the trek to the uber romantic Narbona Wine Lodge in Carmelo.
